DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-8, drawn to creating interprocess communication data structure associated with a network address on a network device, classified in class 709, subclass 227.
 - II. Claims 9 and 10, drawn to allocating a memory structure in the host computer for the socket and binding the socket to a new network address, classified in class 709, subclass 245.
 - III. Claims 11-39, drawn to plurality of applications on a host computer and associating a descriptor with the socket and storing the descriptor in a protocol stack, classified in class 709, subclass 230.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I, II and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention I has separate utility such as creating interprocess communication data structure associated with a network address on a network device, but lacks allocating a memory structure in the host computer for the socket and binding the socket to a new network address as well as a plurality of applications on a host computer and associating a descriptor with the socket and storing the descriptor in a protocol stack. Invention II has separate utility such as allocating a memory structure in the host computer for the socket and binding the socket to a new network address, but lacks creating interprocess communication data structure associated with a network address on a network device as well as a plurality of applications on a host computer and associating a descriptor with the socket and storing the descriptor in a protocol stack. Invention III has separate utility such as a plurality of applications on a host computer and associating a descriptor with the socket and storing the descriptor in a protocol stack, but lacks creating interprocess communication data structure associated with a network address on a network device as well as allocating a memory structure in the host computer for the socket and binding the socket to a new network address. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

3. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

4. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I is not required for Group II and III, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

5. A telephone call was made to Thomas E. Wettermann, Reg. No. 41,523 on 2 October 2003 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Art Unit: 2143

6. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
